Jazz and Joe
Alan Segal Quartet

The Alan Segal Quartet plays the music we all love, quintessential jazz, in a manner that entices the audience to stop what they're doing, turn and listen. Leaving the venue while this group performs is simply not an option. Who of us could ignore the strength and vibrancy, of Eddie Atkins on saxophone, the rhythms of Leon Jordan, the fills and styling of George Sinkler on piano and the tempos of bassist Alan Segal?

Trevor Gordon Hall

Trevor Gordon Hall sets himself apart by leaving no physical aspect of the guitar untouched and weaving together different textures into grand yet intimate and lyrical compositions. His blend of each sound doesn't overcomplicate but focuses on utilizing the instrument's fullest creative and compositional potential.

Joe Perry Organist

Joseph Perry is an active accompanist, recitalist, studio teacher, and church musician in the Delaware Valley. Joe serves the community of St. Francis-in-the-Fields Episcopal Church as organist and minister of music, music specialist at Spring-Ford School District's 8th Grade Center, co-conductor of Spring-Ford's Middle School Choir, associate director of Spring-Ford High School's auditioned Vocal Ensemble, and assistant director of Spring-Ford's award winning Golden Ram Marching Band.

Joe is a proud alum of West Chester University where he holds a B.M. in music education studying piano with Dr. Carl Franmer and conducting with Dr. David Devenney, and Westminster Choir College of Rider University where he received a M.M. in organ performance studying organ with Alan Morrison, harpsichord and continuo with Dr. Kathleen Scheide, and improvisation with Peter Richard Fonte.

November 22, 2015 4:00pm Frank Henninger Native American Flute

Frank started playing Native American flutes in 2005. After two short, private lessons to learn the basics, he began saying "yes" to any musical opportunities that came his way - including more lessons with several well known flute performers and offers to play for various audiences. He now plays a variety of Native American style flutes, world flutes, didgeridoo, udu, cajon, djembe and other percussion instruments.

January 10, 2016 4:00pm Amici Strings Orchestra

Amici Strings was assembled this past summer as a no-budget/no-pressure summertime ensemble by Alice Larri, a violin, viola and piano teacher in Kimberton with contacts in the Main Line Orchestra, the Providence Chamber Orchestra (which she co-founded in 1998) and chamber musicians. It is made up of 23 local musicians who are playing just for fun and are not part of a concert series.
